1965 CHOCLATIER

THE SENIOR CLASS
OF
HERSHEY HIGH SCHOOL
PRESENTS THE

CLATIER

The Class of 1965 has seen a change come over Hershey High. This year's graduating class has witnessed an increase in activity never before known in the school. New organizations were born out of new interests. An intensity of activity grew from a newly found school spirit. Numbered among our paths to learning in the field of extra-curricular activities were the National Honor Society, the Future Teachers of America, and probably the most beneficial of all--the American Field Service. With the arrival of our first exchange student--Paulo Roberto Bergamasco--an experiment in world understanding began.

That is why the theme of our yearbook is the A. F. S. In its pages you will see Hershey High School through the eyes of another--one unfamiliar with our means in obtaining an education. It is hoped that in following us along through the school you will get new insights, new understanding into what went on around you throughout the year. The Choclatier staff invites you to join us in this journey to understanding.

FOREWORD

The memory of our hard-won football championship remained with us throughout the year.

The high point of each school day was probably our study halls which provided a good time to catch up on the latest gossip.

SUPPLEMENT

Paulo was Hershey High's exchange student. We had fun entertaining him--we hope he enjoyed his stay here, too. But there is more to the idea of exchange students than just fun. What is the purpose?

Man has reached the point in history where war has become an absurdity. Several nations have "nuclear teeth", and more are cutting their twelve-year molars. Nuclear war is ridiculous, but the threat is very real. How may we avoid it?

Try pointing your finger at a man from China.

Result: Bad feeling.

Solution: Learn.

We must learn all we can about other countries and cultures, for only by learning can we achieve true understanding. And peace is impossible without understanding. That's why Paulo was really here--to teach the people of Hershey that Brazil is not just a blob on the map--"down South somewhere"--but a nation of people, like us, striving to create a world where man understands man.

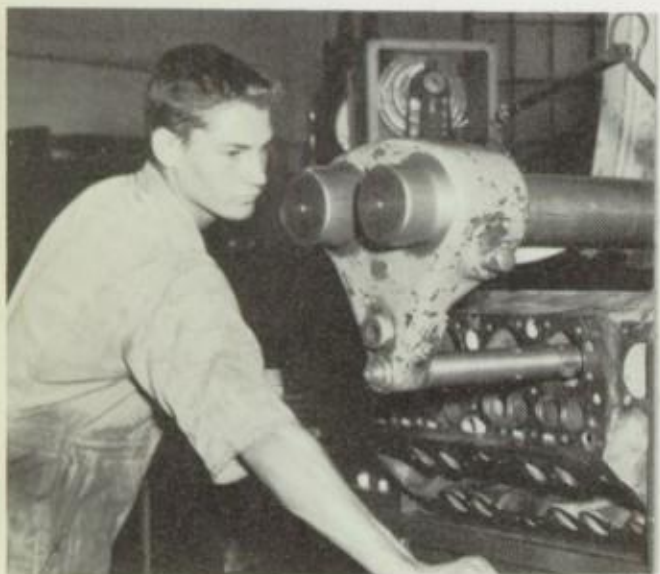

We, the Class of 1965, have finished high school. The halls of Hershey High will still be filled with chatter and the clang of lockers, but for us they are filled only with memories. For us, the pep rallies are over. We must now face reality, and take our first steps out of the fold. We will be confronted with the train of life rolling smoothly along, and it will not stop to pick us up. We must make our own place on that train, and when we get on, we musn't forget that the United States is but one car on that train--apart and yet a part.

Today, the United States has the highest standard of living of any country in the world. We have a tendency to forget that two-thirds of the world goes to bed hungry every night. But we can't forget, for we are only as strong as our neighbors are strong. Their successes are our successes, and their failures diminish us, too. They must remain strong--and usually war does not add to a nation's strength. We must have peace, for today our world must choose between only two alternatives: true peace, or the many pieces of the world's destruction.

We must turn ourselves from our small, isolated worlds. Our minds must go beyond, to thoughts of all mankind. Only then will our concerns for one another serve to build a brighter world, a world in which the family of man lives in peace with itself.

With these thoughts in mind we, the Class of 1965, dedicate this year's Choclatier to the ideal of World Understanding.

DEDICATION

This is Hershey High...

Sports, congested halls, tests, assemblies, homeroom. This is Hershey High.

Hershey High is such a busy and interesting place. I always had things to do and people to see. I never seemed to be able to study in homeroom. I either went to Student Council, a service club, or just wandered around the halls.

Almost every Friday we had an assembly program. They were very interesting and informative. I liked the talent show and the assembly on atomic energy best of all.

Some classes throughout the day bored me. I got tired sitting down all the time. An occasional gym class helped break the monotony.

This is Hershey High. It has been a truly unforgettable experience for me.

SCHOOL

"How are your plans for the new school coming along, Larry?"

LIFE

Study halls are for...

"Too bad they don't accept credit cards," thinks frugal Connie.

Eager Seniors waiting for the mid-day feast (?)

This, unfortunately, is a part of school life too!

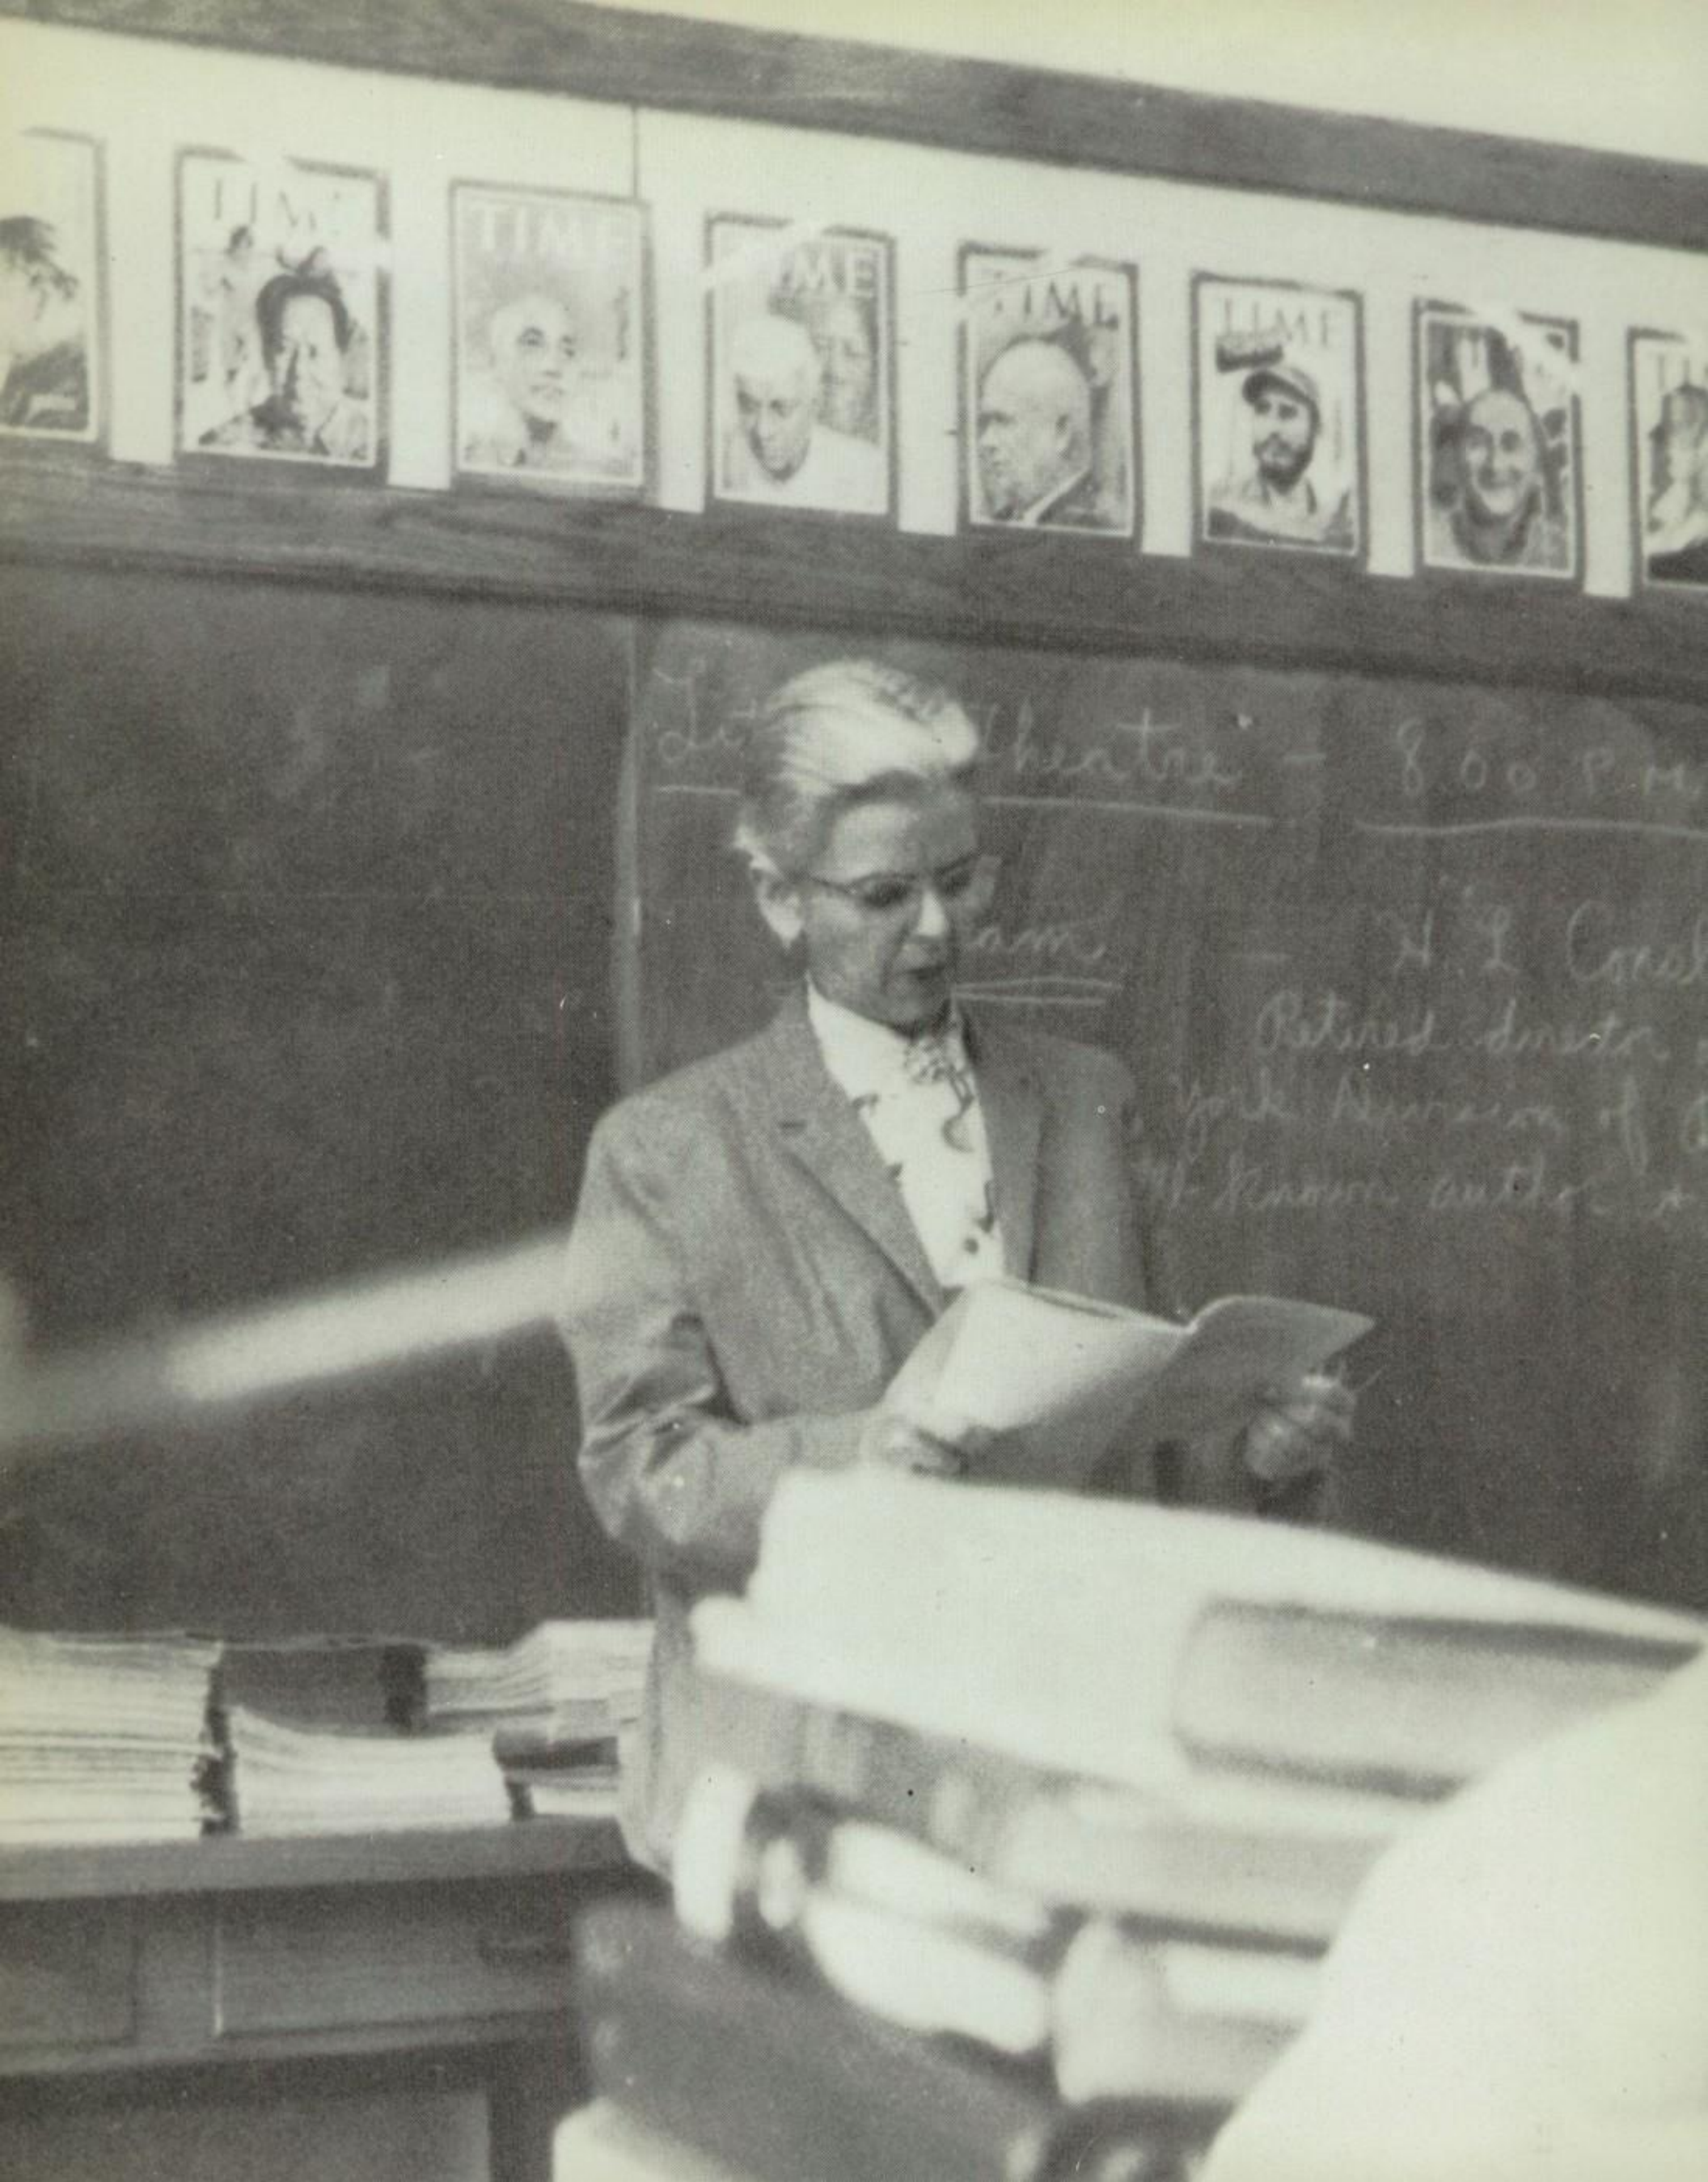

Typical "up only" stairway.

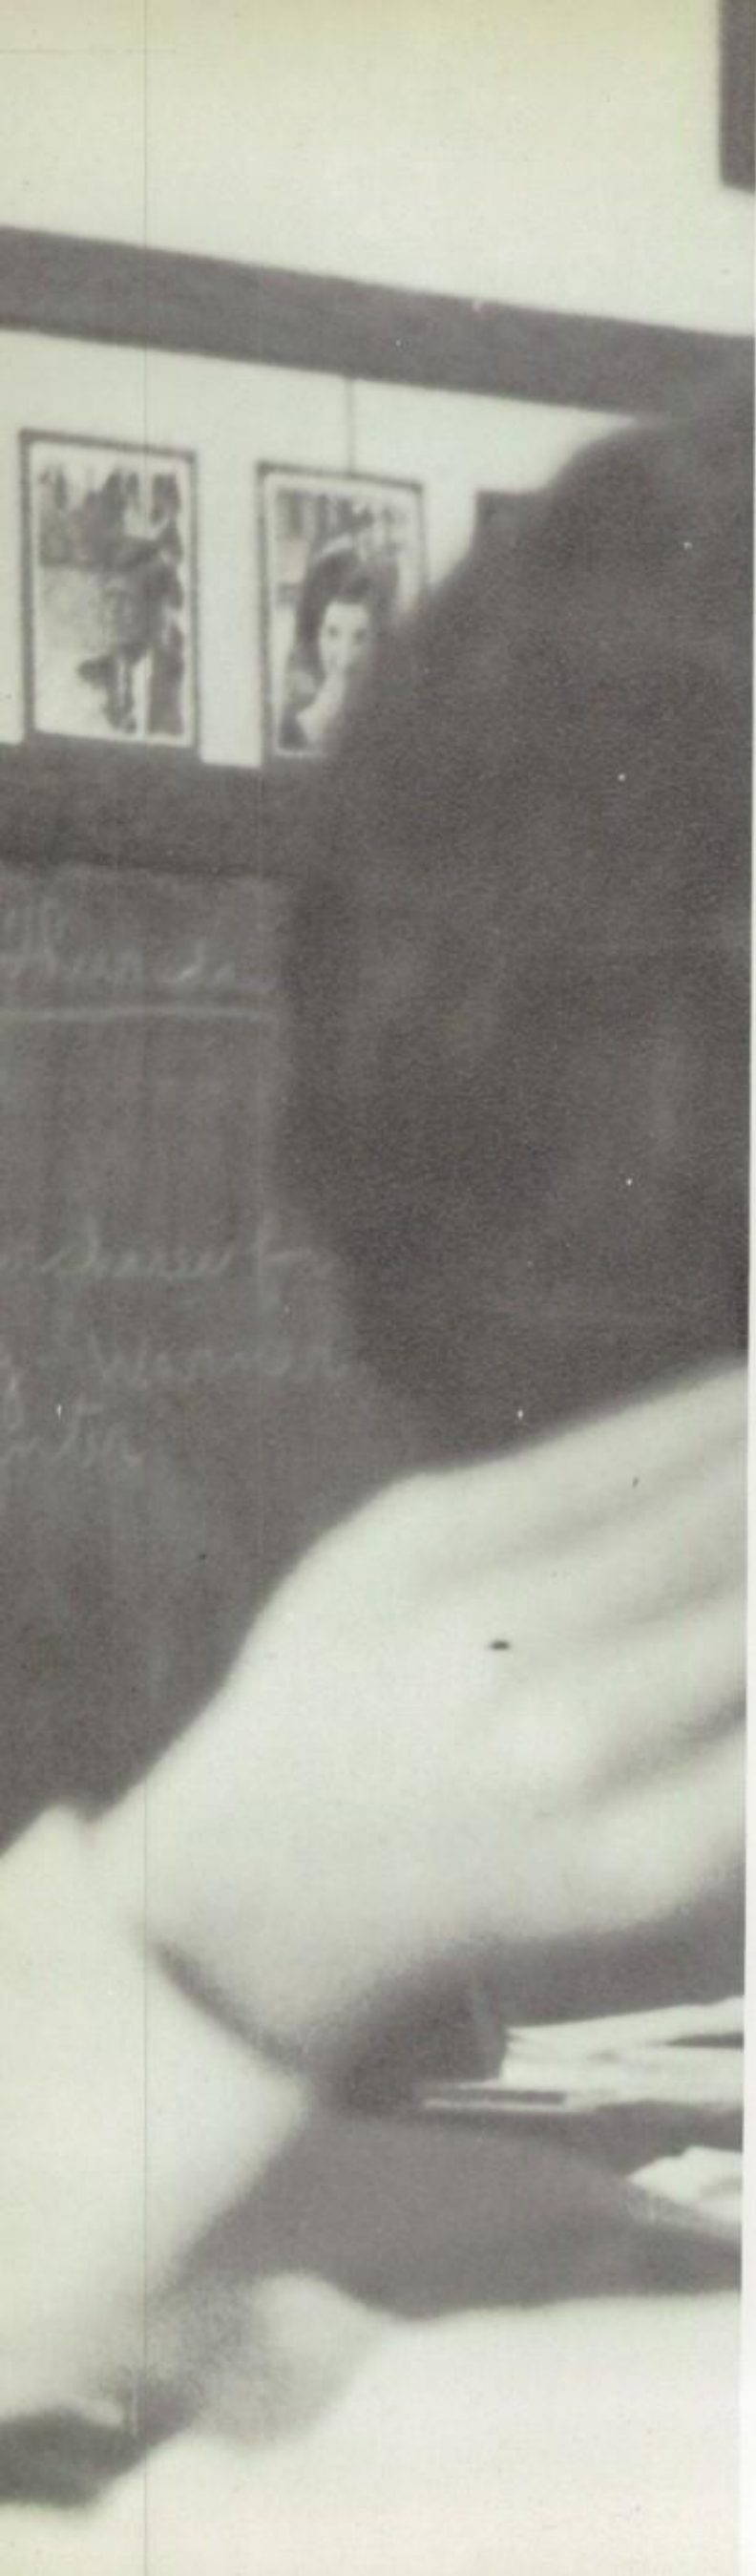

I had been very curious about school life here at Hershey High. I was pleasantly surprised with the great school spirit here. Everyone supports all school activities and athletics.

My school in Brazil does not have activity periods or study halls. I am glad that time is provided in school for meetings and study. However, I think I learned rather quickly that study periods are the best times to talk with friends.

Study halls, assemblies, sports, long lunch lines--I will never forget the varied school life of Hershey High.

PRINCIPAL'S CABINET

When I first came to Hershey High I found there were so many sections, classes and rooms--I didn't see how they ever managed to keep from scheduling two or three classes in the same room. It seemed that this school must have an effective organizational setup to keep from having problems like this. On my first day I decided to meet the persons in charge of the school.

During the day I met Dr. Jacques, Mr. Lange, Mr. Eby, Mr. Evans, Mr. King, and Mr. Black. They told me that much preparation was necessary during the summer to insure a smooth-running system throughout the year.

The most helpful persons during my first months at Hershey High were, of course, the faculty. Since I had a limited background in English I sometimes found it difficult to adjust to classes in an unfamiliar language. My problem was soon eliminated through the help of many of my teachers who aided me in understanding all that was being said.

Through my experiences I came to the conclusion that the administration and faculty have a very important job to do--that of guiding our minds to the fullest potential and preparing us for the future--a future that is now upon us.

I was invited to attend the Student Council meetings as a member-at-large to observe and learn the methods of school government. The Student Council, led by Larry Brandt, is extremely active. Through the able student representatives and conscientious officers: Paul Swartz, vice-president; Susan Boslego, secretary; and Linda Lauzon, treasurer; it is a means by which the students of the whole school can voice their opinions and co-ordinate school affairs.

One thing I was especially happy to see done was raising money for the A. F. S. Through memberships and "Penny Wednesday," the Council approached their goal. I hope I can speak for the students of H.H.S., as well as myself, in saying that this program is the foundation in establishing that eternal objective--world understanding.

The students worked hard on their projects, such as Parents' Night for our last football game, a Christmas dance, and the annual Talent Show. Promoting cooperation through the homeroom Christmas decorating contest, revising the outdated Student Council constitution, and conducting the activities survey are examples of the worthwhile services the Council performs. No problem is too small or too rough for the hard-working Council - from a complaint of the disorderly dismissals from assembly to breaking the tradition of homeroom Christmas parties.

Near the end of the last school year the student body voted to ratify the constitution for a student court. With the induction of Chief Justice Earl Brown, and the Associate Justices: Rodney Ruddle; John Boslego; Tom Stover; and Fred Ruth; and the election of enforcement officers, the Student Court went into effect.

While the student body witnesses the ceremony, Dr. Jacques inducts this year's officers.

ASSEMBLIES

I shall always remember the cordial welcome to Hershey High that I received at the opening assembly. The solemnity of the Student Council and National Honor Society induction greatly impressed me. Assemblies along the educational lines included Fire Prevention, Fire Arms Safety and, of course, the thrilling spelling bee. There were also several thoroughly entertaining shows, among them the annual Student Council Talent Show and the Teacher's Talent Show. Two highlights of the pre-Christmas festivities were the wonderful Music festival preview and the Milton Hershey Glee Club's Christmas program. Excitement was at a peak during the Student Council elections as candidates diligently carried on their campaigns. The Student Council while these events were taking place was working hard to plan good assemblies for next year.

Now back to the old grind.

For once, all eyes are front as the Student Council "bunnies" perform in the annual talent show.

"Will the person sleeping in the fifth row please wake up?"

"Sounds radioactive, doesn't it, Jack?"

"Well, I'm glad to see that you can finelly spelle."

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

I was privileged to be one of the seven hundred spectators at the installation of the twenty-seven charter members of the Daniel E. Lewis Chapter of the National Honor Society in December. More members were selected in April.

Mr. Herr, my chemistry teacher and advisor to the Society, told me that the members of the Society are selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Members must maintain a 3.0 average, or they will be dropped from the Society.

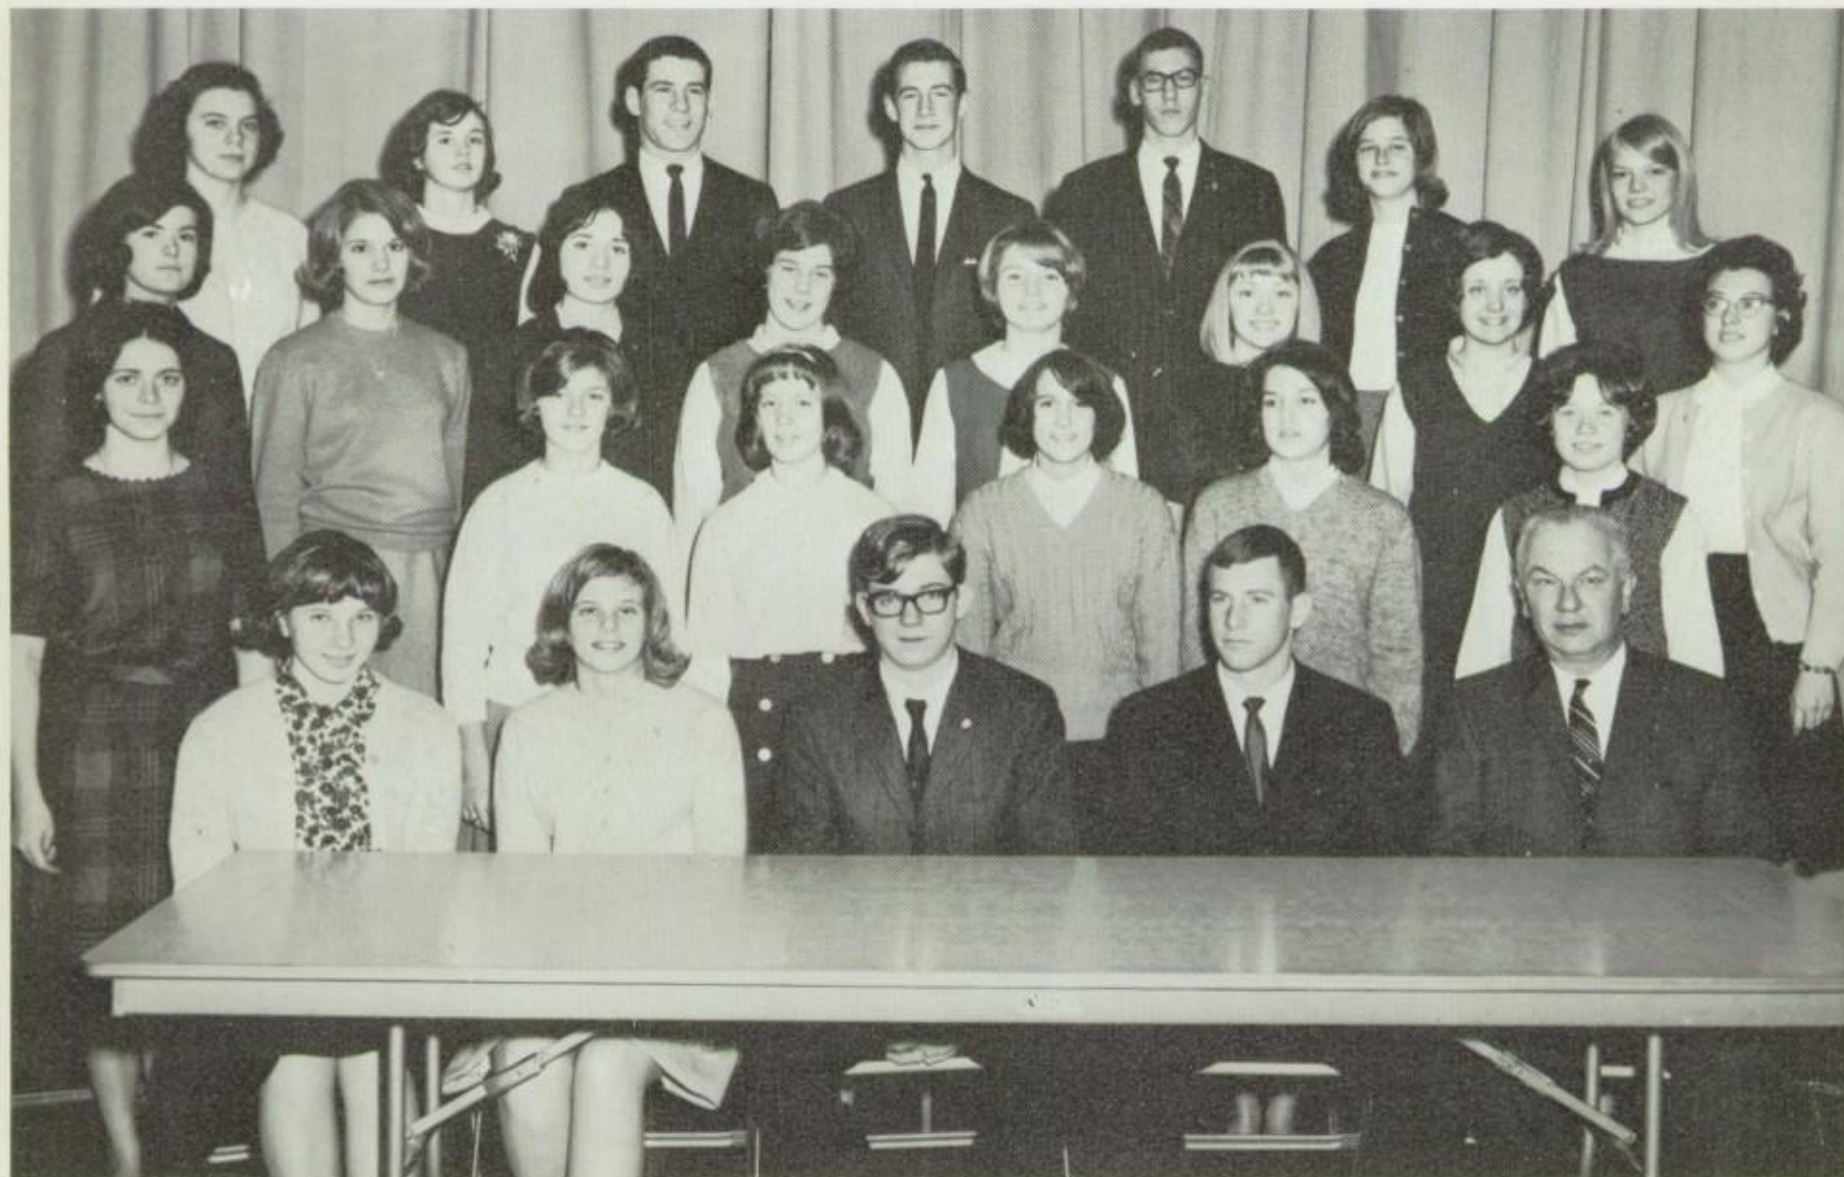

Mike Glover, president, told me that the Society meets bi-monthly. He said the group works in accordance with the National Council of the National Honor Society to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in the students of Hershey High. Mike explained that he and the other chapter officers--Alex Trayer, vice president; Anne Reese, secretary; and Susan Boslego, treasurer--work with the faculty as the executive committee of the chapter. The executive committee coordinates the programs of the chapter.

I am sure that the National Honor Society will continue to do much in promoting scholarship and high ideals at Hershey High.

CHOCLATIER

As I passed Room 216, it was buzzing with activity. I stopped in and Bill Hartsock, editor-in-chief, explained to me just what the Choclatier, the school yearbook, is. Then I began to realize all that is involved to make the Choclatier a success. When I talked to Beth Jacques, senior section editor, she told me the work the writers must do to interview seniors, write their write-ups, and meet the deadlines. Joyce Banta explained the features section. Sports Editor Stauffer showed me the lay-out of the sports section. Photographer Ed Offley dropped in to deliver some pictures he had just developed. After all that, Anne Reese, Bill's competent assistant, answered my many questions. She said that the Choclatier staff started working during the summer to plan the lay-out and design. Senior assignments were given out during the first week of school. Then in November the feature assignments were given. It is very important that the deadlines are met to insure prompt delivery of our yearbooks.

Later in the week I attended a staff meeting. There Mr. Sider, the faculty advisor, told the staff about the supplement. He said that the staff had agreed to work extra hard and make an addition to the yearbook that would include the prom and the spring activities.

One of my most prized possessions to take back home is my very own Choclatier with my name printed on the front. I am really looking forward to receiving my supplement this summer.

BROADCASTER

Though I have learned many things at Hershey High through my experiences, I have missed many incidents that prove of interest. To keep me well informed on all Hershey High activities I rely on the Broadcaster. The school newspaper covered everything from sports to club activities, from vocational news to alumni notes, and from scholastic news to editorials. Under the capable supervision of the faculty advisor, Miss Hamer, Editor Delia DiNunzio and her staff brought me and all the Broadcaster's subscribers a fine publication.

Variety was a keynote in the contents of each edition. The editorials, accompanied by fine cartoons, gave me some ideas worthy of a few minutes of thought while the bits of humor scattered throughout gave us all a few moments away from the worries of this modern world. This successful newspaper added much to Hershey High School by thoroughly informing its readers of all happenings. Truly this year's Broadcaster lived up to its motto, "For a Better Hershey High."

EXCHANGE CLUB

Mr. Shirk, club sponsor, gives last minute instructions before arrival of exchange guests.

I was pleased to learn that there is an exchange club at Hershey High. Immediately I wanted to learn more about it and compare it to the A.F.S. with which I am affiliated. The Exchange Club exists to give students an opportunity to learn more about the life in another community, to learn to adjust to a somewhat different environment, and to meet new and interesting people.

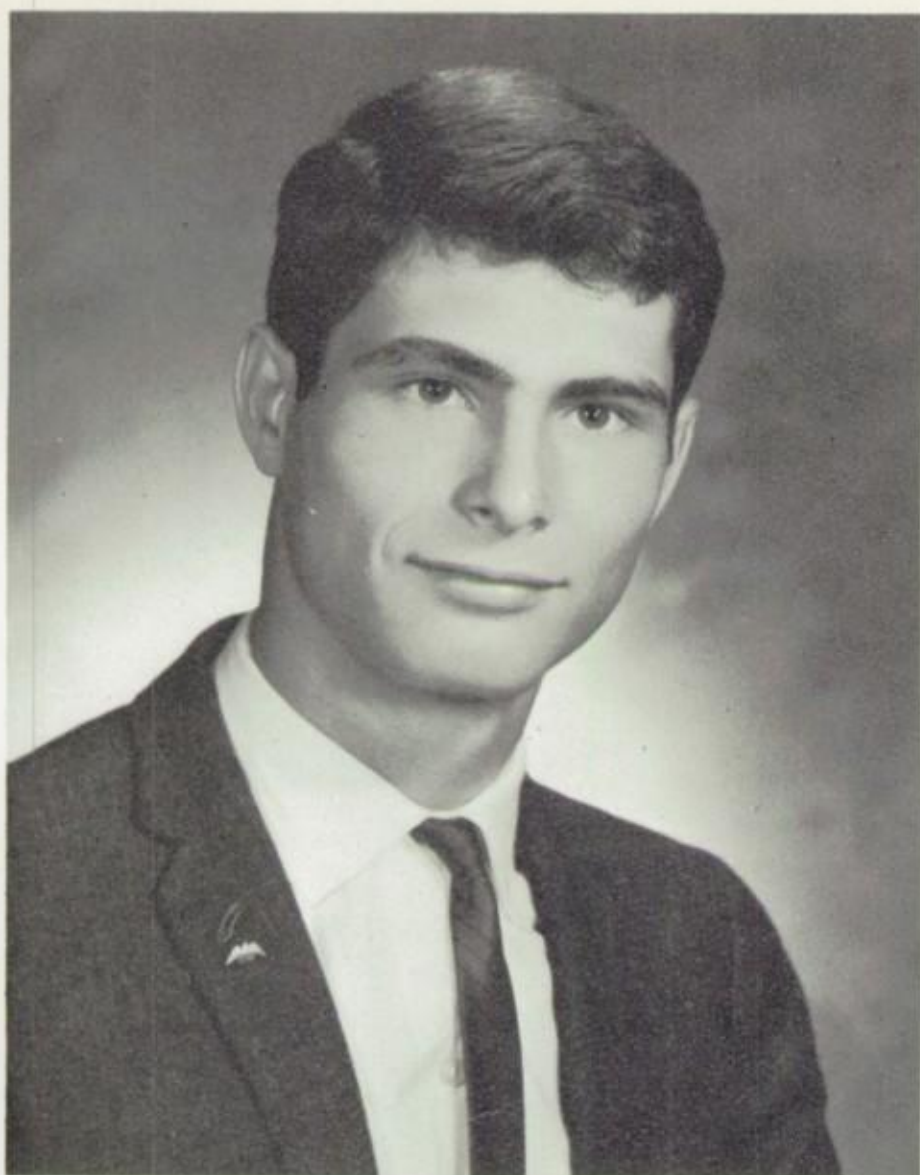

The officers of the 1965 Exchange Club were George Stauffer, president; Linda Long, secretary; and Joseph Angelotti, treasurer. Mr. Shirk, Miss Barnhart, and Mr. Socha, faculty advisors, and the thirty-four members of the club worked faithfully to prepare a memorable welcome for the members of the Exchange Club from Connetquot High School, Bohemia, New York. Funds were raised by the annual pancake supper and candy bar sale.

The Exchange Club members' two weeks of close association with their partners from Bohemia produced many unforgettable experiences. The Club feels that this year's exchange was most successful and that they have gained a new understanding of the word "brotherhood."

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

I am indebted to the American Field Service for bringing me to America and to Hershey High School.

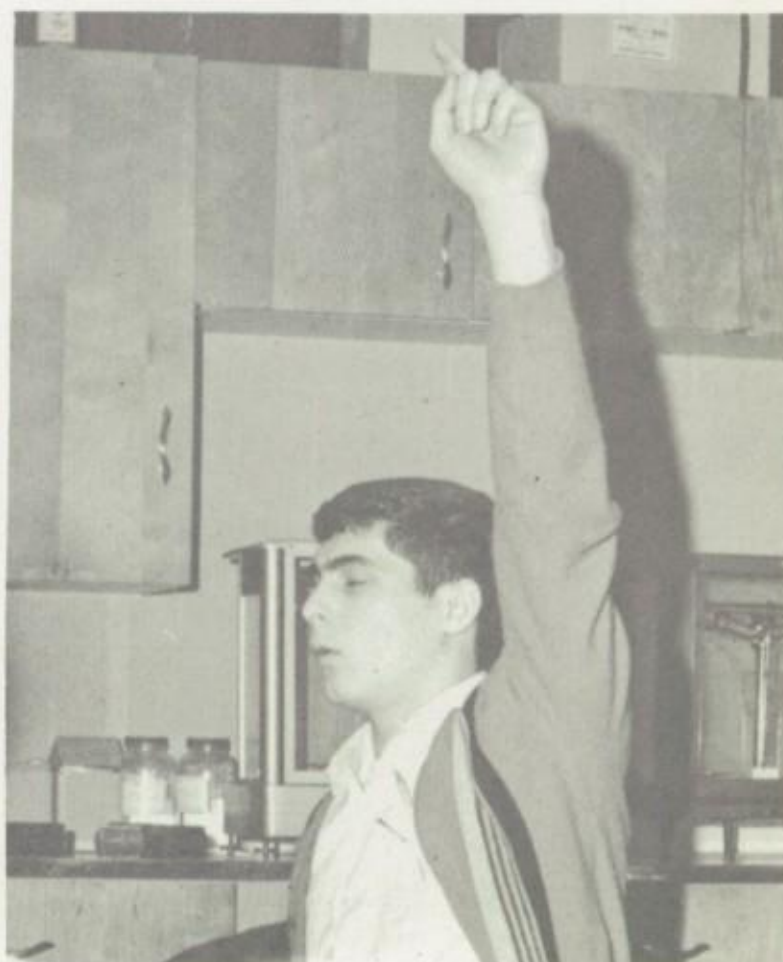

The Federated Women's Club of Hershey and the Senior High Student Council are the co-sponsors of this chapter of a program which is in operation in this country and many others throughout the world.

Last spring when I received a letter from A.F.S. informing me that I had been chosen to go to America, I could hardly believe it. I wondered what it would be like living in a strange country, going to a new school, and living with an American family. But A.F.S. arranged all the details for my trip and took me and 225 other Brazilians to America. They arranged to have me stay with Shaffer Day and his family, and to attend school at Hershey High.

Most of the money for my trip was raised in an A.F.S. membership drive conducted last winter in which almost all of the students participated. The annual Christmas collection also added to the total.

I am indeed honored to be your first A.F.S. student and to be able to take part in the enriching and enjoyable program.

Don't ask me what I was doing, I was asleep at the time.

SENIOR TRI-HI-Y

As I learned more about life at Hershey High, I became familiar with the organization founded primarily for Christian service to both community and school. With this objective in mind, I observed how these girls, under the proficient leadership of Miss Mildred Snyder and President JoAnne Santucci, planned to fulfill the dedicated purposes of fostering Christian living. Judy Herman, vice-president; Carol Zerbe, secretary; Cindy Doll, treasurer; and Susan Bikle, chaplain, capably helped direct the aims of the club.

To display service to the community, a car wash with the Hi-Y was held with proceeds donated to the J.F.K. Memorial Library. At Christmas, the girls visited the elderly of the community to sing carols. The club engaged the Milton Hershey Glee Club to perform at the Christmas Assembly. Throughout the year various dances and fund-raising projects have also been held. "Christian living through doing" is one of the ways this organization successfully achieves its goals.

I became aware of the valuable service which the Hi-Y contributes to the school when I attended one of its meetings. Mr. Brandt, advisor, introduced me to the president, Linus Fenicle; vice president, Joe Angelotti; treasurer, Scott Boyer; secretary, John Plebani; and chaplain Jack Davis. At the meeting, projects for the year were discussed, including the selling of Trojan shirts, the planning of tactics to be used against the junior varsity basketball team in the opener of the annual alumni game, and the making of arrangements for the trip to New York City.

After the meeting, Linus explained to me that the Hi-Y is the school branch of the Y.M.C.A. and that its ideals are clean speech, and clean living.

The Hi-Y serves to help our school run smoothly and efficiently.

The Hershey High Math Club is one of the least known, but most challenging, of school organizations. I was happy to learn that this subject is important and interesting enough to merit having students give up their valuable activity periods to probe deeper into the world of mathematics. Although the group consists of only eighteen members, it is obvious and evident that they are hard-working, and really desire a better understanding of algebra, trigonometry, and other branches of the science. I noticed that the group usually met Thursday mornings during activity period, and although they had no permanent meeting place, their sessions usually took place in Room F. The purposes of this club are really very practical and useful. The club spent most of its sessions working out math problems that had hindered them or that they had not fully understood during that week. Other time is spent as the group's capable advisor, Mr. Hovis, explains the solving of certain college board examination examples, so that the group can gain a more complete knowledge of mathematics.

" $2 + 5 =$. .uh, now let's see . . ."

SCIENCE CLUB

"What's wrong with that tape recorder? Who erased my lecture?"

One day I was conversing with Herb Vernet, president of the Hershey Senior High Science Club. He told me that the Science Club was composed of ten members, ranging from the tenth to the twelfth grades. He informed me that their meetings were held in Room A, and the members were called together every Monday morning during activity period. The dedicated advisor of this group is Mr. Higbee, a physics teacher in the senior high. Most of the group's activities consisted of repairing physics equipment in the room. He explained to me the fact that certain very successful money raising programs were employed, among them a doughnut sale in the earlier part of the year. The group also took a trip to Franklin and Marshall College, where they observed an exhibition in the school's planetarium. I also learned that other club officers included Tim Ross, vice-president and Dennis Trout, secretary-treasurer.

Besides having a good time, the ten members of the club did gain valuable experience and knowledge in the field of science.

MELODRAMADIERS

Linda Harris and Ned Zechman take time out to check the bulletin board for assignments in preparation for the spring play.

Formerly the Dramatics Club, this organization has received a new name, the Melodramadiers. As I talked with Mr. Pagliarulo, the advisor, and the club officers, I found that for the first time an attempt to join an international organization, The Thespian Society, is being made. In order to accomplish this each member must participate for a certain number of hours in theatrical work and then the club can become a charter member. Mr. Pagliarulo then introduced me to the officers: President, Ned Zechman; Linda Harris, the vice-president; Cheryl Butsko, the secretary; and the treasurer, Susan Peffley. Also, for the first time, an assembly of previews and then an evening show is being tried. The play that the Thespians put on was written by a fellow member of the group, Cindy Thompson. Plans for a trip to New York and the purchase of make-up were carried out. Before leaving I received some of the club stationery and an invitation to attend any future plays given by the organization.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

I heard that Hershey High has an F.T.A. I wondered what an F.T.A. was so I asked JoAnne Santucci, the president. She explained to me that the F.T.A. is the Future Teachers of America Club which has just been organized this year. Membership is open to any student in grades ten to twelve who is interested in teaching as a career. They meet the second and fourth Thursdays of each month at 7:00 p.m. Mr. Ben Olena, the advisor, told me that this year the club undertook a variety of projects such as selling paper-back books and sponsoring dances. F.T.A. also had a co-operative teaching plan which enabled students to assist teachers and learn more about teaching. The meeting usually consisted of a speaker and a discussion. This year's officers were President JoAnne Santucci, Vice President Dennis Ott, Secretary Kendra Shuey, Treasurer Cindy Keefer, Historian Nancy Bierly, and Parliamentarian Susan Bikle.

YOUTH FORUM

The beginning of my experience with American government through the Youth Forum.

One of my greatest experiences this year was participating in the Capital Area Youth Forum. My experience was shared with all of Hershey High since this was the school's first year as a member. After talking to Delia DiNunzio, the Cabinet member from Hershey, I began to understand what the Youth Forum was.

Set up in 1960 under the auspices of the President's Committee on Youth, the Capital Area Youth Forum gives high school students in Dauphin, Perry, and Cumberland Counties an opportunity to discuss problems affecting youth today. The organization is set up somewhat like the government of the United States. There is one cabinet member from each of the twenty-nine schools participating. The Cabinet directs the work of the Forum, and picks the topics to be discussed. The Senate consists of two members from each school. Each school also has one Representative for every fifty students in the high school. The delegation from Hershey High met once a week to discuss the topics chosen by the Cabinet, in preparation for the area-wide Forum held on April 22. The Forum allowed students to express their opinions in a democratic framework, and to offer solutions to the problems of our time.

FUTURE NURSES CLUB

During one of my attempts to get acquainted with Hershey High, I wandered past the Junior High Office one Thursday activity period. I detected a low rumble of voices; and, as I reached the office door, I saw a conclave of Senior High Girls in an anteroom designated as the Health Suite. Mrs. Mariano, the school nurse, was in the middle of this meeting of the Future Nurses Club. Suddenly Jeanne Schildt called the meeting to order and sat down next to Carol Yakstis. Barbara Jo Long read the minutes of the previous meeting, and Stephanie Sheckert read a treasurer's report. The girls then began to discuss a Christmas toy collection, a trip to Harrisburg to work for the Easter Seal campaign, and a Health Careers Night to be held in cooperation with other Future Nurses Clubs.

Mr. Sopko instructs club on "how to succeed in business without really trying."

As I walked through the halls one morning during activity period I heard the chatter of busy voices. Peeking through the doorway, I saw Mr. Sopko conducting a regular meeting of the Business Education Club. I was invited to attend the meeting and accepted cordially. I was a privileged exception, however, for I was informed that only seniors taking the business courses are granted membership.

During the course of the meeting, I noticed Mr. Sopko being assisted by an able staff of officers. The officers were President Charles Whalen; Vice President Joe English; Secretary Cindy Thompson; and Treasurer Gerry Higginbotham.

The Club pursues a versatile calendar of activities; speakers and visual aids help the members to develop a full understanding of business life. Field trips to places of a business concern helped to highlight the year. These included visits by the club to the Nationwide Insurance Corp., AMP Inc., and the Business Department of the Lebanon Daily News.

The highlight of club activities for the year was the Annual Fashion Show, in cooperation with Pomeroy's of Harrisburg, for which club members are models.

The Business Education Club provides an informal opportunity for its members to become better acquainted with business practices in the modern world.

NOON SERVICE CLUB

"I told you we shouldn't have gotten a hypnotist for this meeting!"

While waiting in the lunch line one day, I spied some boys busily keeping order among the younger students. As my curiosity grew I asked one of them what he was doing and I was promptly invited to one of the meetings of the Noon Service Club.

At the meeting I found the Noon Service Club to be one of the most important service activities in school. President Larry Brandt outlined for me the duties of the club which include keeping order in the cafeteria lines, supervising the entrances in the morning and the flow of traffic in the halls.

From Vice President Ben Miller and Secretary-Treasurer John Lucas, I learned that the group consists of thirty boys who, through their commendable service, receive certificates at the end of the year, in addition to their annual spring trip to Washington, D. C. Fund-raising projects include the sale of chocolates and a dance.

This valuable service club is under the capable direction of Mr. McConnell.

Front Row: Ruth Saddington, Jeanne Shildt, Louise Gruber, Barbie Hocker, Donna McNaughton, Marta Huntsberger, Debbie Via, Denise Silsbee, Linda Heubner, Toni Harmony; Mrs. Bierly, librarian.

During the first week of school, I paid my first visit to the library. I was very happy to see that Hershey High has such a neat place for personal reference work.

As I frequented the library more and more, I noticed that its appearance constantly improved. I once stopped to tell our new librarian, Mrs. Bierly, how nice the library looked. She told me that all the credit goes to the library assistants. So I went over to June Yakstis, who was on duty at the time, and complimented her on what a good job the library assistants were doing.

She thanked me and explained that library assistants have a great deal more to do than they did in past years. She told me that library assistants have complete charge of the desk. Someone is always there courteously checking and signing out all library permits. They file new books in the card catalogue and shelve all books in circulation. They write and deliver over-due notices. Sometimes they even put plastic covers on new books.

In talking further with Mrs. Bierly, I found that this work is not just to replace study hall time but rather as a training ground for librarians of the future. In this way they provide both a valuable service to the school and lay a foundation for a future vocation.

MUSIC

One of the things I enjoyed seeing very much this year was the snappy performance of the Hershey High School Trojan Band at the football games. The splendid half-time shows they presented added to the excellent showings of our championship football team.

In talking with the capable new director, Mr. Richard B. Hiler, I learned that in addition to performing at football games, the high-stepping Trojans also participated in the annual Ephrata parade and took part in the festivities at Penn State Band Day.

Not only did I hear the band in marching season, but also while practicing on Tuesday and Thursday mornings during concert season. The fine cooperation and proud dignity which the band members displayed accounted for the many compliments which the director received. The band entertained the community with their concerts and represented the school in an exchange assembly program with Camp Hill High School.

The band ends a snappy half-time performance as the football team prepares for the start of the second half of the Mechanicsburg game.

In order to raise funds for the purpose of purchasing new uniforms at some future date and to meet the expenses of the annual band social, the band sponsored two doughnut sales. Serving under Mr. Hiler this year were President, Earl Brown; Vice-President, James Booth; Secretary, Karen Tuck; and Treasurer, Anne Reese.

I must confess that while listening to the band's fine music during the half-time shows at football games, my attention was focused on the twirlers and band front. Under the competent leadership of head majorette, Becky Jacoby, the twirlers rounded out the band's half-time performances. The band front added a fine touch to the marching band's appearance during its various performances.

While walking past the music room one Monday after school, I heard the swingin' rhythms of the Dance Band. In constant demand, this group provided music for dances at nearby schools. The Dance Band competed in a stage band competition at Middletown Area High School. Many hours of diligent practice enabled the band to represent Hershey High School proudly. The Dance Band also provided music for the annual talent show.

As I recall the 1964-65 school year I remember the Senior High Chorus. I remember Mr. Donato standing behind his music stand ready to give pianists Beth Jacques or Kathy Walls the signal to begin. The introduction is played, and the chorus, wearing blue robes with white stoles, gets ready to begin the program. To the audience this is the beginning, but to the chorus this is the end result of long and sometimes tedious preparation. This preparation consisted of quite a few hours of continuous practice. Long rehearsals for each performance seemed never-ending to the members of the chorus.

The officers helped a great deal during the course of the school year. The officers of the chorus: president, Dave Smith; vice president, Dave Crist; Secretary-treasurer, Kathy Seiverling; and librarian, Nancy O'Neal helped the organization to be an efficient one by doing their separate jobs regularly, and, most important, by doing them well. Each member was rewarded in many different ways. The long hours of effort were not wasted. The members learned how to appreciate truly good music and how to operate and sing in an organized and uniform manner.

With the strains of music still in my head from the Senior Chorus, my ear caught sounds of other music in the next room. When I explored it further I discovered a chorus made up entirely of girls from the Sophomore Class. This forty-one member group is directed by Mr. Hiler. I heard excellent presentations by the girls at the Christmas Festival and the Chorus Concert, which were enhanced by the piano accompaniment of Cheryl Geyer, Judy Bohner, and Darlene Groy.

ORCHESTRA

Missing--one saxophone player

While I was walking through the halls one Tuesday after school, I heard the melodious sounds of an orchestra. I followed the sound and it led me to Room D where the Senior Orchestra was busily preparing for its spring concert.

I stopped Joan Schmehl, first violinist, after the rehearsal, and asked her about the orchestra's activities. She told me that the strings met every Tuesday and Thursday during activity period and the full orchestra met after school.

The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Ronald E. Schafer, had a very successful year this year beginning with its fine performance at the annual Christmas Festival. Its rendition of Moussorsky's "The Great Gate of Kiev" was especially enjoyed. The spring concert, in conjunction with the Chorus and presented in March, was a great success. I really enjoyed the numbers "Glory" and "The Navy Hymn". Later, the orchestra journeyed to Ephrata and Garden Spot High Schools to give its concert. The group was welcomed at both schools. Other activities included playing for the Thanksgiving assembly and the Senior Class Play.

As I read in a newspaper article, a measure of the orchestra's talent was shown in the number of members attending District Orchestra. Ann Nye also went to Regional Orchestra. I am sure this shows what a good job the orchestra is doing in the field of high school music.

ATHLETICS

During my first week at Hershey High, I wondered what was behind all the school spirit. After watching the opening football game against Milton Hershey, I could see that we had quite a team to root for.

As the season progressed, it became apparent that Hershey High was to have one of its great years. Hard work, desire, and team work were rewarded by the return of the Capital Area Conference Championship! With a final record of 6-3, Coach Banta chalked up the season as one of our finest.

A rugged backfield consisting of Al Trayer, Al Shaver, John Hetrick, Harry Susi, and John Rizzo, gained yard after yard of the opposition's ground. The middle line of Dennis Tulli, Paul Flowers, Dennis Moriarty, Ben Miller, Mike Thomas, Jim Eckenrode, and Sam English provided excellent blocking for the backfield. The pass catching of Warren Hitz and Rod Ruddle provided many thrills.

Captain John Hetrick was elected to the Pennsylvania "Big 33" football squad, and is the first Hershey High player to gain this distinction. John's running, pass catching, kicking, and tackling will always be remembered.

CONFERENCE GAMES

Won 6 - Lost 1

Hershey 14 - Milton Hershey 7

A strong Trojan squad completely overpowered the Spartans to hold the Cocoa Bean Trophy for the second straight year.

Hershey 7 - Palmyra 14

Our only league setback. A 40-yard run by sophomore quarterback John Rizzo resulted in our only touchdown.

Hershey 27 - Susquehanna 0

In scalping the Indians, John Rizzo, John Hetrick, Al Trayer, and Kerry Ryman scored for the Trojans.

Hershey 19 - Middletown 14

A determined Hershey eleven fought from behind to upset the Blue Raiders and step into the league lead.

Hershey 27 - Lower Dauphin 0

The Falcons were no competition for our superior line play.

Hershey 20 - Cumberland Valley 7

Championship fever began to infect the school after defeating C.V.

Hershey 13 - Mechanisburg 0

Hershey tamed the Wildcats to become the Capital Area Champions for the second time in three years! During the year the team amassed four trophies for their Alma Mater.

One day near the athletic field, I rubbed my eyes in disbelief. Surely this was the Olympic runner without his torch! But it turned out to be George Miller. Close behind were Bob Adams, Dave Owens, Gerald Zell, Joe Angelotti, Bob Sterner, and Joe Loftus. Far behind were several Palmyra boys who just couldn't keep up with the torrid pace set by what turned out to be our Cross Country Team.

Although, I am told, this is only the second year for this sport at Hershey High, the team competed like veterans and compiled a respectable 3-2 log.

With many promising underclassmen candidates for the team, I am sure Cross Country will continue to gain interest in the future.

"It was all worthwhile!"

BASKETBALL

On the first evening in December, I ventured to Boiling Springs, where the Varsity Basketball Team was to open its 1964-65 campaign. I sat and watched in amazement as the Trojans racked the score higher and higher, winning 97-43. As the season wore on, team after team fell prey to our netmen.

Showing a seasonal slate of 12-8, the team finished in second place in the second half of conference play. Ably coached by John Hanshue, the team proved to be a well balanced unit.

Team captain Linus Fenicle, the second highest scorer in the conference, led the scoring attack with an array of shots, and John Hetrick and Kerry Ryman always seemed to have the range. Bob Markley, George Stauffer and Rodger Christ handled the rebounding chores. Juniors Tony Delisi, Jack Silar, Gary O'Neal, Gerry Kling, and Joe Loftus were always ready to render their assistance.

With Ryman and Christ as a foundation, and five experienced ballplayers returning, Coach Hanshue should have a good start for next year's team.

I really thought that the wrestling on T.V. was something until I attended our first wrestling match, and saw the "power shows" put on by Sam English and Dennis Moriarty as they quickly disposed of their opponents. Seniors Gary Rhine, Tom Deimler, and Jack Davis also fought impressive bouts.

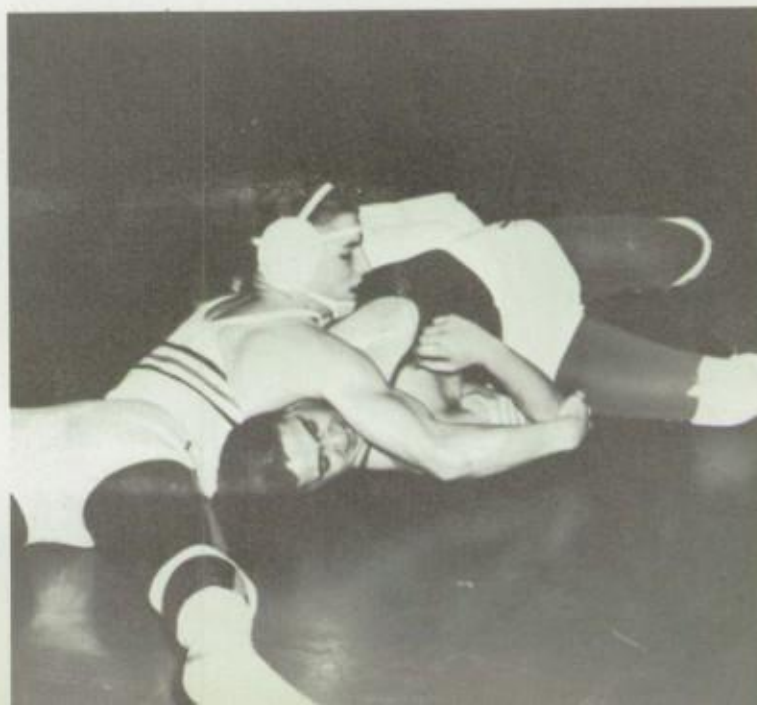

With victories over William Penn, Palmyra, Middletown John Harris, Steel High, and Central Dauphin, Head Coach Kenneth Kurtz rated the season's slate of 6-6 as a fine one.

Wrestling, backed by strong support from the student body, has emerged as a "big" sport in Hershey, and with many experienced underclassmen returning, should provide the fans with many a good match in the future.

SWIMMING

It seems to me that Hershey athletes hold their own on all fields of battle, and the swimming team proved to be no exception. Under the leadership of coach Charles Downin, the team compiled a respectable 5-8 record. Double victories were recorded over Milton Hershey and Bishop McDevitt, and Coatsville also fell under the mermen's might.

I thought that senior Dave Owens and juniors John Boslego and Gary Hitz would never stop winning, and every time I glanced at the finish line, sophomores Mike Mathers, Kevin Weir, Gary Aumen, and Dennis Roland always seemed to be arriving there ahead of their opponents.

The year was marked by an increase of interest and spirit, and with many lettermen returning, I'm sure it will continue.

GIRL'S SPORTS

Seniors battle the Juniors in a race for the illusive ball.

I have found that there is a wide interest in girl's sports. Under the direction of Mrs. Dalton, many girls participated in intramurals after school. Field hockey intramurals were played in the fall. I was happy that a senior team won the championship. Two junior teams were tied for second place. Then came the volleyball games followed by basketball. Softball teams battled for the championship in the spring.

Several senior girls received letters for their participation in sports. In order to receive a letter, the girls had to play in at least three intramural sports for three years.

BOOSTER CLUB

One thing I noticed from my very first day of school at Hershey High is the way the students back their athletic teams. Soon afterward I learned that there is a club existing for the sole purpose of boosting athletics at Hershey High--the Booster Club.

At the invitation of Mrs. Dalton, club advisor, I attended a Booster Club meeting one Wednesday during activity period, where I was introduced to the club's officers: Joyce Banta, president; Diane Pierce, vice-president; Cindy Keefer, secretary; and Pat Disbro, treasurer. The girls told me all about the activities of the organization. They decorate the gym for pep rallies, hang signs in the school halls, sponsor buses to away games, decorate the stadium, and sell programs at football games for the benefit of the athletic fund. The highlight of their year came at their annual dance in February.

"I think my name ought to go up there to."

The Booster Club was not responsible for that!

Flowers, honoring band members and cheerleaders were presented at the final football pep rally by Booster Club officers.

Because I wanted to get in the swing of school activities, I applied for membership in the Girls' Athletic Council. However, I couldn't pass the physical. But I could participate in some G.A.C. activities. I had a great time at the November Turkey Trot Carnival with its pie-throw and kissing booth. The Student-Faculty basketball game was organized by the G.A.C. too.

In addition to their annual events and their main purpose of organizing, refereeing, and generally promoting athletics, the girls sold candy, and this year initiated the idea of having a record collection for the use of all clubs for after-game dances.

At the end of the school year, the G.A.C., under the watchful eye of supervisor Miss Doris Snyder and leadership of Kathy Seiverling, president; Linda Harris, vice-president; Anita Zimmerman, secretary; and Cheryl Baum, treasurer, awarded championship girls' intramural teams, besides giving each of its own five senior members the traditional white and gold blazer.

With support and co-operation from school officials, teachers, parents, and the student body, I can see the G.A.C. has another successful year to its credit.

"I know you won't believe this, but somebody finally bought a Hershey bar."

After attending a meeting of the Varsity H Club, I realized what an ambitious group of athletes we have at Hershey High. President John Hetrick and Secretary Paul Flowers always seemed to be able to come up with new ways of raising money. Besides sponsoring the traditional Alumni game, the Varsity H also sold programs at the Sectional Wrestling Tournament.

The club introduced a new style of summer jacket carrying the insignia of the Varsity H. The senior members of the club were given their stripe sweaters, which included, for the first time, pins, representing the sports in which they participated.

Linus Fenicle proved to be an trustworthy treasurer, and Mike Thomas a capable vice-president.

I was proud to have such fine sportsmen representing my school in athletics.

Tonight when we go to Mechanicsburg we're going to go on the field and give 'em a pounding!

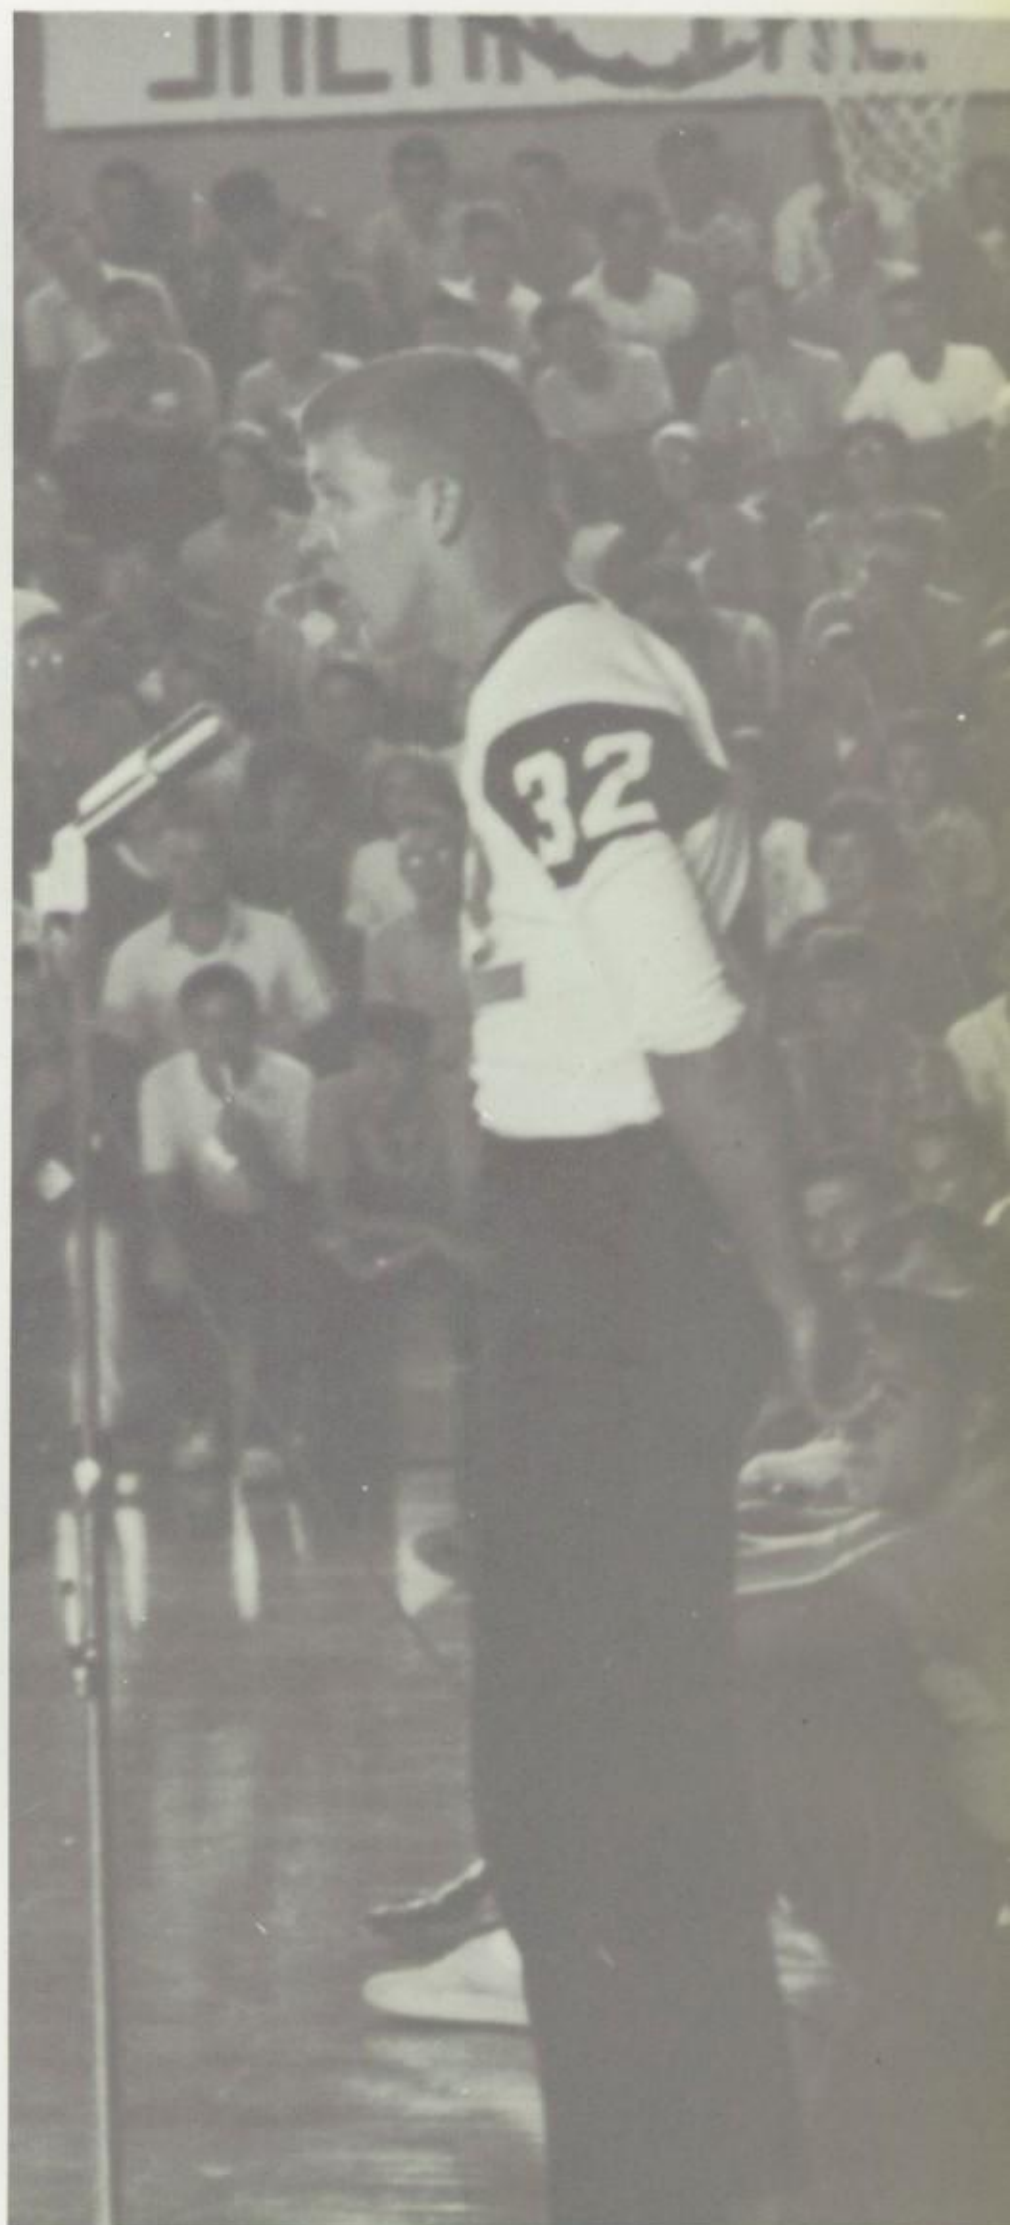

"As a way of raising money this spring we're going to sell autographs of John Hetrick."

"Give me an H. . ."

One factor I remember which was surely a keynote to Trojan success was the cheering squad. Under the leadership of Mrs. Dalton, advisor, these girls supplied that vital spirit which was a fundamental factor of success at varsity sports events.

In the spring after very competitive try-outs, the cheering squad was chosen. Following selection of the squad, the cheerleaders attended a cheering clinic at Hamburg, in preparation for this year's sports events.

While attending basketball and football games this year, I noticed the dashing cheering outfits worn by the girls. These were purchased by the cheerleaders with money earned from sub sales. These sub sales, held whenever the occasion demands, are a chief source of funds for the cheering squad.

Members of the 1964-1965 cheering squad were as follows: Anne Hollingsworth, Captain; Linda Long; Anita Zimmerman; Brenda Hancock; Betsy Evans; Cris Bixler; Sandy Gibble; Susan Cutshall; and Carol Zerbe, substitute. They were led by an able staff of officers, including Betsy Evans, secretary, and Sandy Gibble, treasurer.

With the school spirit drive in full swing, it seems very proper that we pause to give some due recognition to these girls, who have added that necessary spark of pep and enthusiasm to our school athletic events.

Smith, Ralph Gish, Lorraine Ryman, Gary Macchioni, Nancy Bierly, Paul Pollock.

The Class of 1967, I learned, was a class of approximately two hundred and fifty students. The class was led by President Gary Macchioni, Vice President Ralph Gish, Secretary Lorraine Ryman, and Treasurer Nancy Bierly.

As money-raising projects each member of the class had the choice of either selling candy or paying dues. The class also sponsored a dance as part of their money-raising activities.

The sophomores gave an enthusiastic show in the sports world. The junior varsity football and basketball teams were made up mostly of sophomores and they showed great promise for the coming years. The wrestling, swimming, track, tennis, and baseball teams were also earnestly supported by sophomores. The class as a whole showed a lot of school spirit in their turnouts for all athletic events.

The Class of 1967 is scheduled to be the first class to graduate from the new high school building. Here's hoping!

Hard up?

JUNIOR CLASS

During my stay in Hershey I have seen and heard many things about the Junior Class. They have honor students, athletes, musicians, and artists. They are a fine example of hard work, good attitudes, leadership, and high spirits. I have seen how all these qualities have been combined to obtain admiration and respect from teachers and other schoolmates. They portray an infinite amount of school spirit by supporting all school activities.

The development of the Junior Class this past year has indicated that they possess a tremendous amount of potential. Under the leadership of its officers Tony Delisi, president; Jack Silar, vice-president; Cathy Lowe, secretary; and Maureen Garman, treasurer, the Junior Class took giant strides in all major fields of school life. I am sure that the Class of '66 will develop their resources to the fullest possible extent and that next year's Senior Class will attain that measure of success for which they are striving.

Think!

My time at Hershey High is over now but I will never forget the wonderful friendships I made in the Senior Class. Through working, learning, and playing with them throughout the year, I learned that the success which they have achieved in school was earned through hard work and unending use of their abilities. Through the year I have witnessed the activities that mark every Senior Class, such as the Fruit Cake Sale, Dinner-Dance and Commencement preparation. And yet there seemed to be more there. A spirit of enthusiasm and interest in what they were doing appeared again and again during the year. For the Seniors it was the year of the hard-won C.A.C. championship, Youth Forum, A.F.S., and the National Honor Society; for the renewed intensity of both the curricular and the extra-curricular. But also it was the year of hope. Twelve years of schooling are behind us and now the door to the future is open.

A MAJORITY OF ONE

"Any man more right than his neighbors, constitutes a majority of one." - Henry David Thoreau

I remember reading that quote on the cover of the Senior Class Play program. The cast presented, "A Majority of One," which is a former Broadway comedy. The story centers around Mrs. Jacoby, a widow, and her voyage to Japan. On board the ship she meets Kaichi Asano, a widower, with whom she becomes personally involved. Mrs. Jacoby and Mr. Asano meet again in his elegant Japanese home, and further complicate their situation; but, in the end they are happily united. When it was over, I went backstage to congratulate Mr. Ben Olena, the director, and his thespians for an evening that I'll never forget.

THE SPRING SPORTS

Spring is the time when a young man's fancy turns to athletics! With the fine records displayed by all the spring teams, it seemed that all the Trojan men wished to end the school year in fine style. Two teams won their conference titles, and Hershey men broke record after record.

The baseball team won their last six games to become the Central Penn Co-Champions. Jerry Engle, John Rizzo, Dennis Tulli, and Linus Fenicle formed a "million dollar" infield, while Bill Hennings handled the catching chores. Warren Hitz and Jon Plebani covered the outfield and John Hetrick and Bob Markley shared the pitching duties. Markley ended the season with a no-hitter. Mr. Banta's Co-Champs, with a 10-4 slate, were a team Hershey can be proud to claim.

The golf team won all the honors in the Central Penn Conference, winning the Eastern Division and the League title. Seniors Steve Miller, Tom Aldous, and Joe Kupstas, Junior Domenic Manari, and Sophomore Skip Reese were an unbeatable combination in conference play. This was Miller's fourth year as a letterman. Mr. Beck's linksmen finished with a 13-0 league record and a 15-1 overall slate. This is a team that will be remembered!

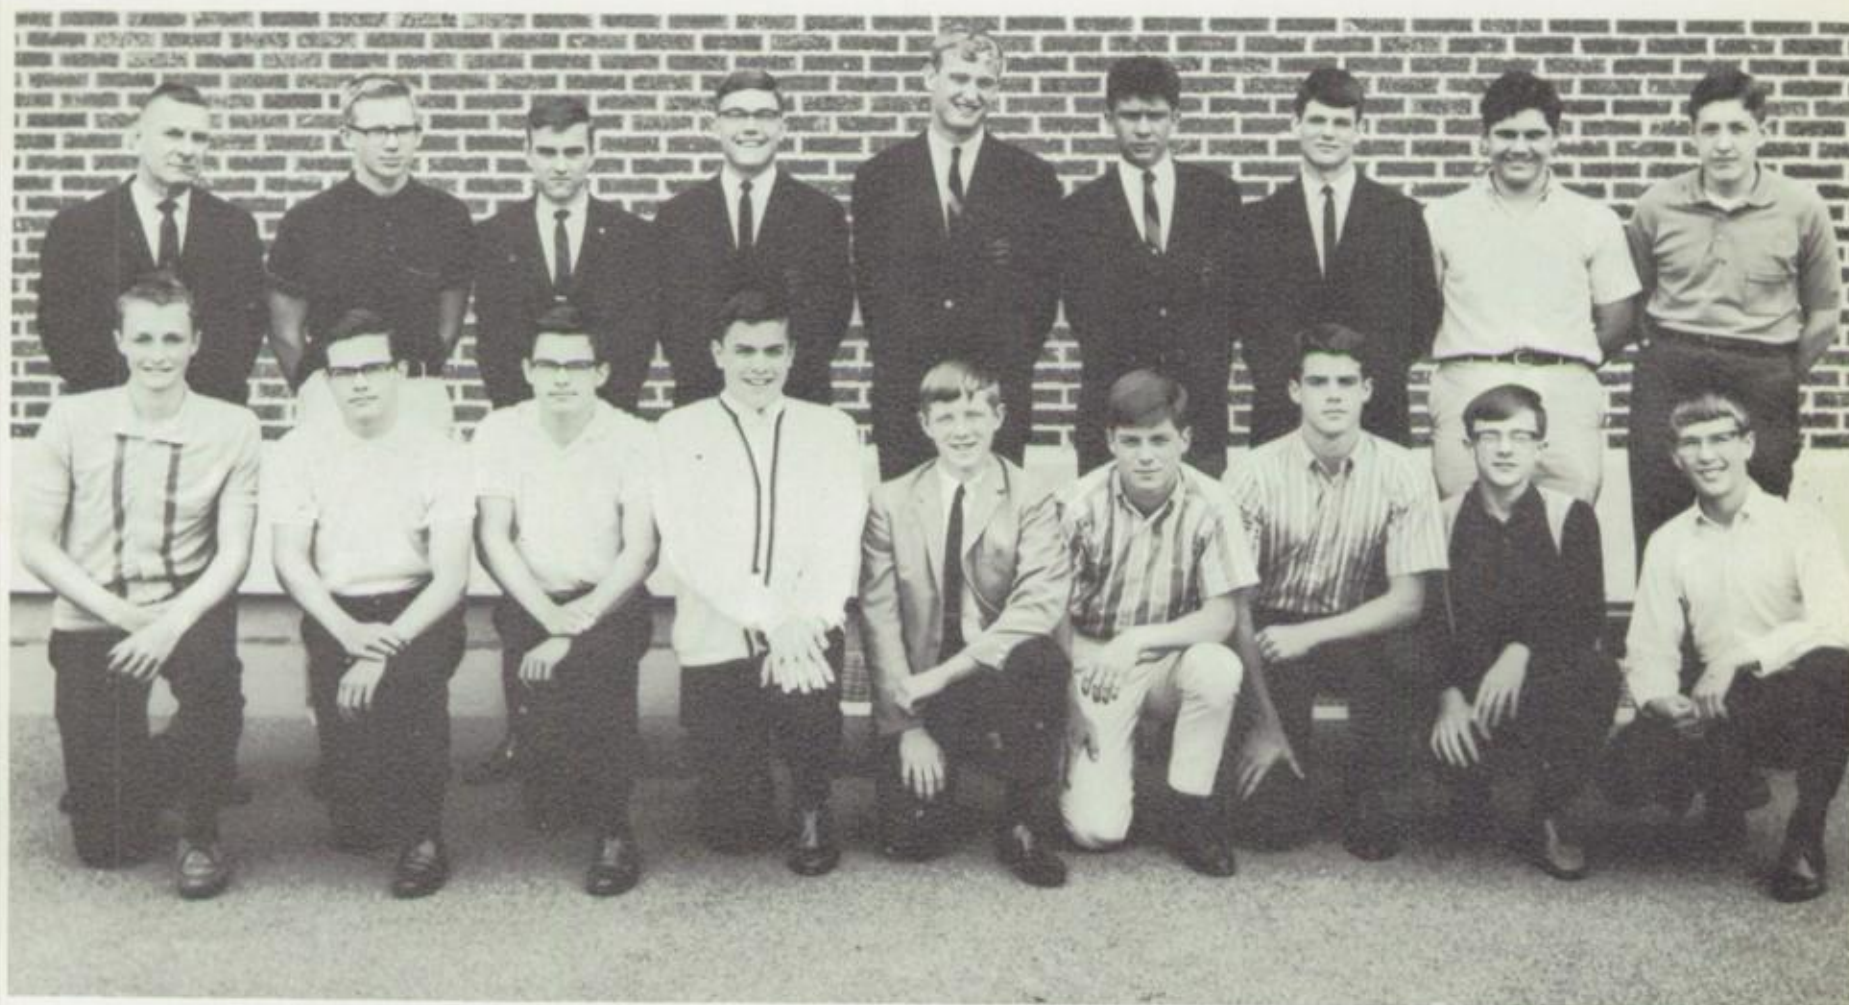

Mr. Eyler's trackmen, with a 5-2 record, finished third in the Capital Area Conference. The squad recorded victories over Milton Hershey, Palmyra, Susquehanna, Mechanicsburg, and Lower Dauphin. Competition revealed many fine athletes, including two conference champions, Alex Trayer and Bob Sterner. New school records were set in the 220 yard run by Paulo Bergamasco, the 880 yard run by Alex Trayer, the high hurdles by Tom Reigle, the low hurdles by Dudley Peffley, the discus by Mike Thomas, the pole vault by Bob Sterner, and the high jump by Scott Boyer. Junior Joe Loftus was the high point man for the team. The track team enjoyed a fine season!

Last but not least, the tennis team also experienced a successful year. Larry Strait's men recorded victories over Hempfield, Donegal, John Harris, Susquehanna, and Central Dauphin, and finished the season with a 5-7 slate. Seniors Jack Davis, Bob Burris, and George Stauffer, Junior Adrian Watson, and Sophomore Paul Fisher combined to give the squad a strong front line. With Fisher, Watson, and many ambitious underclassmen returning, the tennis team should have a bright future.

"I'm going to hit that ball if it kills me."

One of the sports I have always enjoyed is watching girls, uh, I mean watching the Girls' Tennis team trounce another opponent. This is the only interscholastic sport for girls and coach Mr. Garman is extremely impressed by the growing interest in it. This year forty girls tried out; only half made the team. Finishing the season with an impressive slate of six wins, one tie, and one loss, the team amassed a great deal of support.

Franceen Garman, our number one player, remained undefeated throughout the season. The other members had very impressive records. Seniors on the team were Sue Basehore, Delia DiNunzio, and Jill Henry. Max Donley and Carol Corrado gave them support. With strong underclassmen returning, the team should continue its fine record.

"Tsk, tsk, you don't say," remarks Joe Ensminger.

"That darn candle won't

INFORMALLY SPEAKING

Assemblies are not complete without a few words from Mr. Lange.

The hoods of the Melodramadiers make plans for another caper.

The new members of the National Honor Society swear to uphold the ideals of scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

"O.K., roger, wilko, and out."

Those worrisome, busy days before exams.

"I just have to do something with my hair."

And now to the Prom.

Love under an old English shield.

"Oh, I just know I'll trip down the aisle."

Student speaker Joan Schmehl.

Student speaker Anne Reese.

Class president George Stauffer is the first to get his diploma.

The "White Hart Inn" is doing a thriving business tonight.

SENIOR

" . . . putting a finger
aside of his nose, and giving a nod, up the chimney
he rose."

Our mascots Pam Gould and the Knight of the Class of '65.

A thoroughly enjoyable evening for all at "Hampton Court".

PROM

The highlight of my wonderful senior year was the Senior Prom on April 9. What a busy place Hershey High was during the months preceeding our big night. The decorating committee worked very hard; they even were excused from school on Friday to transform the plain gym into a regal English castle. I'm sure that all my fellow seniors will agree that all the prom committees did outstanding jobs - everything was a great success.

The evening started with a dinner at the Hotel Hershey. So much food! Then came the wonderful "Night at Hampton Court". When we got tired of dancing we could sit down at the "White Hart Inn". The prom lasted for three hours, but did the time ever fly by!

Then came all the post-prom parties and finally to bed after an absolutely fabulous night.

Say cheese!

COMMENCEMENT

Commencement exercises were held in the Hershey Community Theatre on May 26. The theatre was filled with a crowd of over two thousand.

Entering the theatre to the slow, solemn notes of "Pomp and Circumstance", I recalled my life as a student at Hershey High.

I listened intently to the student speakers, Anne Reese and Joan Schmehl, as they presented excellent talks on the pertinent topic, "Focus on the Humanities". Our guest speaker, Dr. Norman A. Baugher, spoke on "Inheriting a Revolution".

The graduates' faces mirrored varied emotions as we received our diplomas and sang the alma mater for the last time.

The recessional began and I was filled with the sad knowledge that this was the last time I would see many of my classmates. In contrast, I was proud to have received my diploma and to be a graduate of Hershey High School.

"Congratulations, graduate."

Our guest speaker,
Dr. Baugher.

Eyes forward, head up, and keep in step.

This was Paulo's year, but it also was ours. In this Choclatier we have seen the class of 1965 in its greater and lesser moments. But always we saw ourselves in it, participating to the fullest extent. That is where the success of the year lies. The experiences we relive through the yearbook are only a mirror of the efforts we put forth to make our last year at Hershey High our best.
